Vhong, who is on the road to full recovery after being viciously mauled in a Taguig City condo by Cedric Lee and his men, had a Valentine dinner date with his fellow “It’s Showtime!” hosts.

He seems to be in good shape and having fun.

Anne Curtis posted in her Facebook page a photo of the reunion with a caption: “Masaya din kasama mga barkada kapag Valentine’s Day.”

On Monday (Feb. 17), during Anne’s 29th birthday celebration in “It’s Showtime,” Vhong greeted Anne via phone patch, as he apologized for not making it to her party Sunday night.

“Anne, pasensya ka na kung hindi ako nakapunta sa birthday mo, sa party mo. Kung wala man ako dun sa party mo sa puso ko nandito ka naman lagi
,” Vhong said.

Anne told Vhong she understands his situation.

“Miss na miss ka na namin dito. We can’t wait na bumalik ka,” Anne said.

“Ngayon lang namin narinig ang boses mo ulit dito sa ‘Showtime.’ Naiintindihan ko naman kung bakit wala ka dito basta mahalaga safe ka diyan

Vhong then cracked a joke in reference to his brutal beating in a condo unit.

In an interview with Pep.ph, Anne said she found Vhong greeting on the show “super funny” and that Vhong called her after to ask if his joke did well.

She said that Vhong’s joke is a sign that it’s time to move on from the incident.

“You know we just have to realize that time to move on and if someone can kid or make fun of it na, ‘yun na talaga,” Anne said.
