

Miss Earth bites the Big Apple

Written by Special to the Filipino Reporter
Friday, 03 June 2011 21:45

Miss Earth Nicole Faria reading a copy of the Filipino Reporter.

Like a breath of fresh air, reigning Miss Earth Nicole Faria (of India) drops by the law firm of Abad, Constancio & Mallonga at the Empire State Building accompanied by Fil-Am international jewelry designer Ramona Haar, the official jeweler of Miss Earth.

The 21-year-old Bangalore-born beauty is an instant hit in NYC, especially among Fil-Ams and

Miss Earth bites the Big Apple

Written by Special to the Filipino Reporter
Friday, 03 June 2011 21:45

Indian-Americans, who watched her win the crown in Vietnam in December 2010.

The 5'9 tall model and belly dancer (she has a 22.5-inch waistline) helped showcase Ramona Haar's fine jewelry during a May 24-June 3 exhibit at the Philippine Center on Fifth Avenue.

Nicole will also perform tonight (June 3) at 8 p.m. at a dance fashion theater with Ramona Haar's jewelry collection at Time Warner Center on Columbus Circle.

The show, "Aurus: The Gold of Mindanao," will also feature award-winning musician Grace Nono, along with international models and performers, under the direction and choreography of Miguel Braganza II.

It is sponsored by Samsung Experience and the Filipinos in the Arts in America, Inc.

More info

Go online at filinarts.org or ramonahaar.com

Miss Earth bites the Big Apple

Written by Special to the Filipino Reporter
Friday, 03 June 2011 21:45

Tom Malonzo, Atty. Ramona Haar, Miss Earth Nicole Faria, Atty. Eugenio Abad, Atty. Raulo Abad, Atty. Raulo Abad