

LBC Express Senior Vice President for Marketing Javier C. Mantecon has clarified that LBC Express Inc., although a unit of the LBC Group of Companies, operates independently and is not affected by the placement of LBC Bank under receivership by Philippine Deposit Insurance Corporation (PDIC).

“It is business as usual for our close to 1,000 branches nationwide and more than 100 branches worldwide,” Mantecon added, “and we are assuring our customers that the cargo, courier and remittance services of LBC Express remain strong.”

LBC Express is known to be utilizing the services of many different banks for its operations such as Philippine National Bank (PNB), Metrobank, Banco de Oro (BDO), Rizal Banking Corporation (RCBC) other than LBC Bank.

“Our remittance business is and has been in the past primarily serviced by these major banking institutions for our company’s daily operations in servicing the remittances of our customers,” Mantecon said.

LBC Express, Inc. is the leading Global Filipino Company in the business of Express Courier and Money Remittance with 1,000 branches nationwide and over 100 branches worldwide.

LBC has been linking and bridging Global Filipino for more than 60 years now through total customer service experience.

Known as the “Hari ng Padala,” “LBC pioneered several service innovations like the door to door remittance service, ATM bilis Padala & the ‘Balikbayan box.’ These services have connected the Global Filipino with their families in the country for the past decades.”

LBC Express aims to be the total solutions provider of choice professionally and technologically equipped to serve Filipino families and businesses entities across the globe.
