THE much-awaited first of three presidential debates took place at Hofstra University in Hempstead, N.Y. last Monday night.

We picked Mrs. Clinton as the winner.

In our view, Hillary Clinton was more presidential in demeanor and language.

She supported her plans with adequate and clear explanations.

She avoided sweeping generalizations, unlike Donald Trump.

Sweeping generalizations are unintelligent and mere exaggerations.

One significant aspect the Monday debate demonstrated was that under Hillary Clinton, the United States will be in good and responsible hands.

Experience is the best teacher, as the saying goes.

The former senator from New York recognizes the “immense and awesome responsibility of the presidency.”

Mrs. Clinton showed us she has organized plans for the United States and the world.

When her opponent sarcastically criticized her disappearance from the campaign trail days before the debate, she wisely replied she practiced for the debate and she practiced to be president.
